

OHIO'S LABOR FORCE—PICTURES OF DECLINE: December 2013

As a result, the percentage of Ohioans in the labor force has plummeted and is currently just above the national level.

In 2008, Ohio was ranked No. 23 in the U.S. in labor force participation, but the state has been losing ground since and is currently ranked No. 31.

Notes: Data only available back to 1999. Most recent data available are for November 2013.